

COMMUNITY PAYBACK

Bulwell Hall Community Gardens

Offenders on Community Payback have turned disused allotments in Bulwell into a community garden – their work has helped make the Grindon Crescent site more attractive and accessible for local people.

Jobs carried out include:

- chopping down overgrown brambles
- clearing a children's play area
- digging over soil
- cleaning out a pond
- creating flowerbeds

'The allotments were left to rack and ruin but the Community Payback team have really pulled it together, I'm overjoyed with what they have done, their enthusiasm for the work is overwhelming and I have nothing but positive things to say about them. Local people have started to come back to the site since these improvements have been made'.

Patrick Duffy, Chairman, Bulwell Hall Community Gardens
